We offer you an opportunity to try out different kinds of work and get an idea of what you want to do. The aim is develop your employment prospects and get closer to the aim of training to get a qualification.

We make a point of using your personal strengths and skills that you have already acquired and help you to make the most of them.

After an introductory phase in which we would like to get to know you, you find out what interests you by working on different projects. While doing so, you learn how to use different tools, working techniques and materials.
